Essay (10)

Q46. [Essay] · Cognitive Domain: Comprehension

What is organizational change?

Suggested answer: Sample response: Planned alterations of organizational components to improve the effectiveness or efficiency of the organization.

Q47. [Essay] · Cognitive Domain: Application

Describe the PESTEL factors and give an example of each one.

Suggested answer: Sample response: Political, economic, social, technological, ecological/environmental, and legal. Examples: change in regulations, recession, increased demand for a diverse workforce, global warming, AI, and trends toward corporate responsibility and increased legal scrutiny.

Q48. [Essay] · Cognitive Domain: Comprehension

Identify the organizational change roles.

Suggested answer: Sample response: The organizational change roles include change leader, change initiator, change implementer, change facilitator, change recipients, and stakeholder.

Q49. [Essay] · Cognitive Domain: Comprehension

What makes a successful change leader?

Suggested answer: Sample response: They have a rich understanding of organizational systems--their system in particular and the degree to which continuous or strategic changes are appropriate. They understand themselves, their influence, and image in their organizational context. They have special personal characteristics--a tolerance for ambiguity, emotional maturity, self-confidence, comfort with power, a keen sense of risk assessment, a need for action and results, and persistence grounded in reasoned optimism and tenacity. Finally, while they are curious and have a strong desire to learn, they also have a deep and abiding distrust of organizational fads and recognize the negative impact of fad surfing in organizations.

Q50. [Essay] · Cognitive Domain: Application

Give an example of a redirecting organizational change.

Suggested answer: Sample response: A major strategic change due an anticipated shift in the market. Anticipation of product obsolescence and introduction of new technologies.

Q51. [Essay] · Cognitive Domain: Analysis

Describe the different organizational change roles.

Suggested answer: Sample response: Change initiators, or champions, frame the vision for the change and/or provide resources and support for the initiative. There will be change implementers who make happen what the champions envision. Some individuals will play a role in facilitating change--change facilitators will assist initiators and implementers in the change through their contacts, access to resources, and consultative assistance. Finally, there are individuals who will be on the receiving end of change: These folks are the change recipients.

Q52. [Essay] · Cognitive Domain: Analysis

Describe the paradoxes of change that change leaders embrace.

Suggested answer: Sample response: They are involved in both driving change and enabling change. They recognize that resistance to change is both a problem and an opportunity. Good change leaders focus on outcomes but are careful about the process. Change leaders recognize the tension between getting on with it and changing directions. Change leaders understand the need to balance patience and impatience.

Q53. [Essay] · Cognitive Domain: Application

Give an example of a demographic change in the world and its economic impact.

Suggested answer: Sample response: Aging population and dropping fertility. Senior citizens require medical care and pension support that will increase the debt-to-GDP ratio significantly. There will be fewer working adults to support the growing number of dependents.

Q54. [Essay] · Cognitive Domain: Analysis

Explain the four types of change using examples.

Suggested answer: Sample response: Tuning is defined as small, relatively minor changes made on an ongoing basis in a deliberate attempt to improve the efficiency or effectiveness of the organization. Adapting is viewed as relatively minor changes made in response to external stimuli--a reaction to things observed in the environment, such as competitors' moves or customer shifts. Redirecting or reorienting involves major, strategic change resulting from planned programs. Finally, overhauling or re-creation is the dramatic shift that occurs in reaction to major external events.

Q55. [Essay] · Cognitive Domain: Analysis

Why do we need organizations?

Suggested answer: Sample response: Deliver services we need; get things done; educate and care for the population.
